

Cookie Policy

'Cookie' is a name for a small file, usually of letters and numbers, which is downloaded onto your device, like your computer, mobile phone or tablet when you visit a website.

They let websites recognise your device, so that the sites can work more effectively, and also gather information about how you use the site. A cookie, by itself, can't be used to identify you.

How do we use cookies?

We have minimised the usage of cookies on this site. The only reason that we use cookies is to keep track of how people use our site, so we can keep it relevant and useful.

We use Google Analytics to do this. Google analytics will save a cookie to your computers hard drive in order to track and monitor your visit, but will not store, save or collect personal information. You can read Google's privacy policy for further information.

The cookies we use

We use the categorisation set out by the International Chamber of Commerce in their UK Cookie Guide.

We use the following categories of cookies:

Strictly necessary cookies are essential for you to move around our website and to use its features.

Performance cookies collect anonymous information about how you use our site, like which pages are visited most.

Functionality cookies collect anonymous information that remember choices you make to improve your experience, like your text size or location.

No cookies, please

You can opt out of all our cookies (except the strictly necessary ones). Find out how to control and delete cookies in your browser.

But, if you choose to refuse all cookies, our website may not function for you as we would like it to.

If you have any questions about how we use cookies, please contact us.

May 2018